

ACTIVITIES

University of Algarve is a public higher education and research institution in the areas of science and technology, management and economy, earth and marine sciences, social sciences and health.

Postharvest Lab is in the Faculty of Science and Technology and focuses on research of technologies to improve storage ability of fresh horticultural products.

ACTINPAK FOCUS

The focus of the Postharvest Lab is to study innovative active and intelligent packaging for improving quality and increasing storage and shelf life of fresh and fresh-cut horticultural products.